

Project Progress: Development of IO2 - The Training and Adaptation Handbook

The implementation of IO2 accompanies the “IO1 - The AGROS Courses”. The Training and Adaptation Handbook is designed to give the essential context and support to the adult educators for the best exploitation of the AGROS products, tools and materials. It provides specific guidelines to the project’s stakeholders on how to integrate the training package in their teaching activities and how to utilize it as an adult educational component, but in regards with their trainees’ potential and needs. This Handbook takes into consideration the variability of its audience and their motives.

XENIOS POLIS (Greece), as an experienced education and research organisation, is the responsible partner for the implementation of this output. Organisation attempts to involve all partners in the development of the handbook in order to receive valuable feedback.

The Training and Adaptation Handbook will be offered in a digital interactive flip book format.
