Press Release, February 2023

Overview of the Final Conference

On the 14th of February 2023, the team of ALPDC conducted the Final Conference of the AGROS project, which took place in Ayuntamiento de La Palma del Condado, supported by the local Adult Education centre of the University of Huelva, the adult school SEPER La Palmera, as well as the professionals on gardening, sustainability, environmental activation and green roofs of the association LFDTV. The conference achieved its objective of attracting a diverse audience: both from target and associated groups. Participants were able to listen to the speakers' speeches on the AGROS project, sustainable solutions and green roofs in urban planning and best practices of green policies in rural and urban development and implementation of green roofs. After the completion of the event, participants received their own plant with instructions for repotting at home, a sticker with the logo of the event and a QR to access the web page.
